Public Invited To Attend Armed Forces Day Events Tomorrow And Saturday

Fort Ord will hold open house for the public on Saturday, Armed Forces Day. The U.S. Army Language School at the Presidio of Monterey is inviting the public to visit classes tomorrow afternoon.

Power for Peace is the theme for the events designed to inform the public on the status of its armed forces, also to allow a close look at the modern Army.

There will be something doing every minute of the day at Fort Ord, from a Bozo the Clown helicopter performance to a noisy mock battle complete with simulated artillery, tanks and armored personnel carriers.

Scheduled to begin at 9:00 o'clock in the morning with the opening of static displays for public inspection, and continuing with a parade, the mock battle and an invitation to the public to lunch in Army mess halls, the celebration of the Power for Peace demonstrations will continue until 3:00 o'clock.

Beginning at 10:30 o'clock and continuing until 11:15, a parade, consisting of more than 3200 troops and 20 vehicles, will be presented on the south parade grounds. A narrator will give a running description of the mission of each unit and the facts about each vehicle.

The parade will be climaxed by a flyover of fixed wing aircraft trailing colored smoke streamers. Following the parade, a mock battle will be fought on the high ground next to the parade field, employing tanks, troops and helicopters.

Following the battle, a flight demonstration will be presented using all types of aircraft stationed at Fort Ord.

The aircraft demonstration will

Until three years ago, boys and girls from other countries came to the United States to attend Carmel High School for a year as American Field Service exchange students. In return, Carmel High School students went abroad during the summer under the same AFS student exchange program.

Both students coming here and going to other countries were guests of families while they were away from home, a stipulation of the AFS plan to develop international understanding.

All funds to bring students to Carmel, also to assist those going abroad, were raised by the Carmel High School student body with some help from community organizations.

The project was abandoned because it became increasingly difficult to find Carmel parents willing to have the school's foreign guest live with them as a member of the family, also the ever-increasing number of Carmel students applying for the AFS summer program put a heavy burden on faculty members because each applicant had to be thoroughly screened as to eligibility for the exchange program. Faculty members, too, carried the responsibility of seeing that the student from abroad became well-acquainted with all aspects of the community.

However, the 20-30 Club has offered Carmel High School the necessary funds, $650, to bring a foreign student here for the 1962-63 academic year and thus reinstate the AFS student exchange program.

AFS regulations now require that a committee of local residents must be found before any high school is accepted in the exchange program. This citizens' committee assumes the responsibility of finding a home in the community for the student from abroad, ensures community interest in the AFS exchange student and program, relieves the school faculty of much of the work necessary to carry on the AFS project successfully.

Mrs. Patricia Ricketts Sippel, Carmel High School graduate, now a member of the school's faculty, is endeavoring to form such a citizens' committee and will be faculty AFS representative for the group.

She spent the summer of 1954 in Germany as Carmel's unofficial ambassador under the AFS student exchange program and is an enthusiastic exponent of the advantages to youth provided by the AFS program, also of the benefits

City Hall Roof Is For The Squirrels Council Tells State

City councilmen, last night, told the state that painting Carmel-by-the-Sea, official name of the city, on the roof of city hall would only "further confuse fliers, squirrels and citizens."

The request to adorn the roof in the above manner was in answer to Assembly Concurrent Resolution 14 requesting the city to paint the name of the city upon the roof to aid "befuddled fliers."

The report on the matter, prepared by Councilmen Frank Putnam and Francis Whitaker, members of the council's public welfare committee, stated that the city hall roof was "so steep and tree-covered that it was clearly visible only to squirrels." The city's name was so long that it could not be painted on sides of the roof. If the name were continued from one side of the roof to the other, fliers would have to circle the roof to read the name, an act that would further befuddle them.

However, the roof could be lengthened to double its length and the city's name painted on this extended surface, the report suggested.

In the end, though, any painting of the name on the roof would only lead to further confusion of fliers, squirrels and citizens, the report concluded.

The council agreed by unanimously adopting the report.

Briefs...

"I am unalterably opposed to lights in the business district," Councilman Frank Putnam told other members of the council last night. This statement was in answer to requests for a street light at Monte Verde and Fifth, requested by the Christian Science Church; another at Junipero and Fourth, requested by the adult board of the Carmel Youth Center.

The first light will be considered on the council's June tree tour. The other was turned down.

Allowed by a 4-1 vote was the marking of a tree on Mountain View west of Crespi Lane to help motorists avoid hitting it. Councilman Whitaker cast the No vote. He maintained "the only thing motorists pay attention to is a tree."

Ocean Avenue will be considerably changed by two council actions last night. The council approved painting red "boxes" between accordion parking in five blocks thus eliminating confusion about the areas between spaces. According to Police Chief Clyde Klaumann, every other city using this parking method has the red markings and if Carmel doesn't follow suit he would like the city to employ someone to listen to complaints from the public.

The other Ocean Avenue change will be planting and resurfacing of the parking area at Lobos Lodge in the same manner as the landscaping at Normandy Inn across the street. This will be a co-operative undertaking between the city and Hermann Westinghouse Fletcher, Lobos Lodge owner.

Last week the name of P. A. McCreery, hard-working past president of the Carmel Youth Center, was inadvertently omitted from the list of those whose pictures were presented by the center's youth board to the adult board.

New Councilmen Block Ordinance For Parking Lots

Carmel's two new city councilmen blocked an ordinance authorizing the purchase of off-street parking lots with half the revenue obtained by increasing business license taxes, plus matching city funds, when they voted, last night, in favor of a report, presented by Mayor Eben Whittlesey, recommending that preparation of the ordinance be delayed.

The mayor's report was somewhat of a surprise. He voted on April 4 in favor of initiating the ordinance, but last night recommended that any further action be delayed until the council receives a report from the planning commission on the latter body's current study of the need for additional off-street parking, also the amount which should be provided, undertaken at the request of the previous council.

His report also conflicted with that of the other member of the committee on administration, Councilman Francis Whitaker, who recommended that business license fees be increased 100 percent, and this city revenue be earmarked for acquisition, improvement and maintenance of parking lots. Secondly, that a room tax be enacted and this additional revenue be used as follows: 25 percent to match the business license increase; 25 percent for capital outlay; 50 percent for greenbelt acquisition.

Councilman Herbert Blanks quickly moved for adoption of the mayor's report recommending delay in the parking lot purchase ordinance until the planning commission parking study is completed.

"I am personally convinced that no city council should enact passage of this ordinance unless the facts are before them. Before I was elected, I had serious doubts on what the parking problem is and where it exists.

"Doubling business license taxes is a most inequitable way of raising money," he added in opposing the ordinance to provide funds for the purchase of parking lots in this manner.

Councilman James C. Buffington Jr. stated, "I agree with Mr.

Highway Division Presents Solution To Sign Deadlock

Bids were called for this week by the California Division of Highways on the traffic channelization and light installation project at the Highway One-Carpenter Street intersection.

According to the descriptions furnished by highway engineers in the call for bids, the intersection project will include "three tubular overhead structures . . . traffic signal, flashing beacon and highway lighting system." The bids will be opened at 2:00 o'clock June 13 in Sacramento.

In connection with the state project, Carmel city councilmen recently requested a sign saying "Carmel North Entrance" to replace the misleading (to them) sign now at the intersection which says only "Carmel," with no indication that there is another entrance to town on Ocean Avenue.

Last night the city council received word from the Division of Highways that a sign, to be placed south of the Pacific Grove overpass on Highway One, would indicate two exits ahead into Carmel.

The first exit so indicated will be Carpenter Street with the mileage to the exit given; the second Ocean Avenue, also with mileage given.

The council passed a motion indicating pleasure with this tentative proposal.

Strike May Mean Sunset Will Have To Be Used To Replace New Junior High

Interlacing its action with strong talk of the need for budgetary caution, the Carmel School Board last night approved pay increases for daytime, adult school and substitute teachers.

But it deferred action on salary boosts for the district's administrative staff, and held off for the second time on full-scale approval of bid authorization for school athletic equipment pending adoption of the 1962-63 budget, which is still in a preliminary stage.

Last evening's mood of frugal caution, this time on the part of two board members, was also responsible for a deadlock vote by the board on one of the district's biggest questions of recent months: whether or not to utilize Sunset School at full capacity next fall. This particular board action (or lack of action) resulted in leaving the Sunset quandary still unsolved.

Board members unanimously approved the salary hike of 4 percent for regular classroom teachers, using the compromise schedule agreed on last month by the Association of Carmel Teachers and the school administration.

In similar action, the board bypassed a recommendation from Superintendent Stuart Mitchell suggesting an increase to $5 per hour flat rate for adult school teachers, and instead adopted an adult school pay schedule providing for $5.00 for teachers with one or two years seniority in the district, $5.50 for three and four years' service, and $6.00 for five years and over.

The new schedule replaces one with a minimum of $4.25 and a maximum of $4.75, which is well under surrounding districts. Home teachers were given raises identical to the adult school, and sub-

PADRE NINE AT PACIFIC GROVE FRIDAY AFTERNOON

CCAL B-Division Standings

	Won	Lost
Pacific Grove	7	1
San Lorenzo	6	2
Live Oak	5	3
Gonzales	4	4
King City	4	4
Gilroy	3	4
Hollister	2	6
Carmel	0	7

Coach Hadley Hicks takes his winless Carmel High baseball squad to Pacific Grove Friday afternoon for a league joust with the front-running Breakers who are in command of the top spot with two more games left on the schedule. The frustrated Padre nine has dropped 14 straight games so far this season and needs wins over Pacific Grove and Gonzales to stand a chance to deadlock Hollister for last place in the CCAL B-division.

Pacific Grove, with a helping hand from Gilroy which toppled San Lorenzo Valley in an upset, took over undisputed possession of first place last week by clipping the dangerous Gonzales Spartans. The Breakers need wins over Carmel and King City to successfully defend their B-division championship which they won last season. Sparked by pitcher Bob Roberts, the Breakers present a formidable foe with excellent fielding, plenty of speed on the bases, and the best bunting team in the league.

Carmel came close to a league victory last Friday at the expense of the King City Mustangs, taking the game into extra innings before dropping a 2-1 decision to the Blue & White. Improved pitching by Bob Holmes, Jim Brown and Skip Michelson has been improving the Padre defense, but weak hitting and faulty base-running has produced impotent offense.

Carmel's junior-varsity gang rolled to two more wins during the past week, clipping King City in a league game, 4 to 3, and rubbing the Robert Louis Stevenson reserves, 7 to 0, in a practice tilt. Jerry Huff pitched the win over King City as Tim Mosolf provided the bat power with a perfect three-for-three. Chris Marvin pitched a two-hitter against the RLS crew, striking out nine and giving up four free trips to first. Jack DeWitt clubbed three safe blows in four chances to lead the Padres at the plate. Next junior-varsity action is slated for Friday, May 18, when the Gonzales nine comes to Carmel.

RICK BALDWIN STARS AT CCAL LITTLE EIGHT MEET

Carmel High's top all-around athlete, Rick Baldwin, was the bright light for the Padres in last Saturday's B-division track meet, winning both the high and low hurdle races to boost the Carmel thinclads to fourth place in the league standings. The husky senior skimmed over the 180-yard lows in the creditable time of 21.1 and copped the highs with a 16.6 clocking. Besides being a track champion, Baldwin was a valuable cog in last fall's varsity football picture and his come-through performances for the varsity basketball team were the highlight of the hoop season.

Coach Rowland Dickey's powerful King City Mustangs ran away with the meet, amassing 70 points to beat second-place Hollister by 34 points. Scores for other competing schools were: Live Oak 35; Gonzales 35; Carmel 24; Pacific Grove 23; Gilroy 12; and San Lorenzo Valley 10.

Other Padres to hit the score column were Rick Shively, tie for first in the high jump, and Scott Hennessy, third place in the mile run.

CARMEL SWIMMERS FINISH THIRD IN LEAGUE MEET

Bowing to the superior depth of the big squads from Salinas and Monterey, Carmel High's varsity swim squad had to settle for third place in the CCAL Meet held at Carmel's pool last Saturday morning. In the course of the day's action, 12 league records were smashed by the talented natators from the seven competing schools. Carmel's Al Nishimura set a new standard for the varsity 100-yard backstroke by splashing the distance in 1:04.4. The Padre 200-yard freestyle relay team of Art Horning, Nishimura, Tom Farrell and Bob Wells set a new record with a 1:41 clocking, clipping three seconds off the old record formerly held by Monterey High.

Garnering points for Carmel's varsity in the big meet were Milo Frumkin, fifth in the 200 and 400-yard freestyle races; Art Horning, first in the 50-yard freestyle and relay; Al Nishimura, first in the 100-yard backstroke and relay; John Hackbarth, fourth in the 100-yard breaststroke and third in the 200-yard individual medley; and Tom Farrell and Bob Wells in the 200-yard freestyle relay.

Carmel's lightweight scorers were Jim Holt, third in the 50-yard freestyle; Maynard Peterson, fourth in the 50-yard butterfly; Mike Paul, third in the 100-yard freestyle; and Pat McGivney, fourth in the diving.

HUGE CROWDS FOR LITTLE LEAGUE OPENERS

Carmel's Little League season got off to a flying start last Saturday as the largest crowds in the history of the league took in the triple-header opening day. Play started at 11:00 o'clock in the morning and continued until nearly 5:00 o'clock in the afternoon as the teams tried out their new uniforms for the first time. In the 11:00 o'clock opener, Lee McGuckin's P. A. Macs made a successful debut by hammering Jim Kelsey's Turner & McEldowney nine, 15 to 7, as John Clancy and Kenny Little teamed up to pitch the win for the insurance gang. Rookie John Dudley provided the big bat punch for the winners, driving in three runs with a pair of hits. Brian McEldowney and Jim Cray shared the pitching chores for the losers, both being stingy with the base hits, but liberal with the bases-on-balls.

Following the opening-day ceremonies engineered by Mark Johnston, Little League president, Gerald Artellan's Sport Shop gang crossed bats with Newt Goodrich's Boys' Town aggregation and when the smoke of battle had cleared away, Artellan found his debut as a LL manager a winning one. The Sports got a fine one-hit pitching performance from Gregg Campbell and took advantage of 9 Boys' Town errors to post a 15-2 win over the clothiers.

The 3:30 o'clock tilt between Art Carpenter's Pilot Market crew and Jack Cate's Wilder & Jones nine was a fast well-played game which could have gone either way. This one was a hurling battle between Hart Silverie for the plumbers and the duo of Terry Mosolf and Ronnie Parsons for the grocers which was decided by Mosolf's three-run homer in the third heat. Chuck Pearson, Pilot first-sacker, slapped out two hits to lead the batters while the sparkling catch turned in by Mitch Kastros saved the game for the Pilot nine.

Randy Newman's no-hit no-run pitching effort against P. A. Macs highlighted Monday night's game and put the Sport Shop on top of the Little League standings. The little right-hander was in mid-season form as he struck out 14 MAC swingers while fashioning the no-hitter. Joe Scolet and John Clancy collaborated to pitch a four-hitter against the Sports, but it's tough to beat a no-hitter. Rolly Champe, with a perfect three-for-three, lead the winners in the hitting department.

Another fine pitching performance Tuesday night found the Turner & McEldowney nine hitting the win column at the expense of the Wilder & Jones gang. The bricklayers clipped the plumbers, 2 to 1, in the best game of the season as Brian McEldowney threw a one-hitter at Jack Cate's charges, striking out 15 swingers on his way to the victory. Tony Helm, plumber shortstop, was the only batter to hit safely off the swift deliveries of the T&M hurler. Besides pitching a sterling brand of ball, McEldowney also paced the hitters with two blows in three trips to the plate.

Tonight's Little League action has P. A. Macs going against Wilder & Jones and Pilot Market and Turner & McEldowney squaring off in Friday's 6:00 o'clock game.

FARM TEAMS OPEN PLAY THIS SATURDAY

Little League farm teams open the season this Saturday morning with Paul Ricketson's American Legion clashing with Hunter Stewart's Carmel Plaza in the 10:00 o'clock opener. In the 10:00 o'clock second game, Ewell Cole's Rocky Point Lodge goes against Don Wilkinson's Surf & Sand nine. Village Inn, skippered by Pat Dormody, takes on George Miller's Rockets in the 2:00 o'clock tilt, and George Reith and Ed Melton's Mission Ranch crew tackles Derek Rayne in the 4:00 o'clock finale. Derek Rayne is managed by John Harrison and Bob Dudley. Village Inn copped the Farm League pennant last year and the experts are picking the same club as the team to beat during the current season.

Music On The Peninsula

BY MARY LINDSAY-OLIVER

National Music Week will be inaugurated on the Peninsula next Sunday afternoon by a Pops concert at the Fairgrounds by the County Symphony Orchestra conducted by John Gosling. All over the country special efforts will be made in music for this annual observance. The concert at the Fairgrounds is being given so that the general public may hear the orchestra at low cost in an attractive popular program at 2:00 o'clock.

On the following Monday and Tuesday, the last pair of the regular series's concerts of this season will be played by the County Symphony in Salinas and Carmel, presenting the early operatic composition of England's famous 17th century composer, Henry Purcell, sung by soloists and the Hartnell College chorus, also the "Romantic" Symphony by contemporary Howard Hanson, one of America's composers whose works are played internationally.

A second performance of The Marriage Proposal, William Purdy's opera, at the Monterey Peninsula College music hall Sunday again demonstrated the composer's gifts and imaginative courage. As at the premiere, he was applauded and congratulated by the good audience in attendance, together with the three singers, Karen Steinke, soprano, John Farr, baritone, and Larry Swanson, tenor, all of whom were more at ease than on the first night and acted with more abandon. Purdy will have learned much from this performance of his first venture in dramatic music, and we look to his further efforts.

The preview and tea of the Monterey Symphony Guild, Mrs. David Gill, president, at All Saints' on Tuesday afternoon was one of the most interesting ever given. After business, Conductor John Gosling spoke on plans for the future and the three forthcoming concerts of next week. The Harmony Hill Trio and Quartet then played charming and descriptive pieces by pre-baroque composers, Rameau, Biber and Vivaldi. Mr. Gosling gave the audience notes on each of the extraordinary examples of effects produced by these older musicians with simple means. It was a charmingly instructive talk and performance by the Reverend H. M. M. Nicholas, violinist and leader, Camille Olaeta, pianist, Audrey Richardson, violinist, and Robert Phillips, cello. Rameau's Peces de Clavecin, Biber's descriptions from Bible stories, and Vivaldi's four seasons of the year were indeed live music of simple construction and artistic presentation.

Recognition abroad of a fine all-round young musician and composer living at present in Monterey, Axel Duwe, who gave to the community last year a Sunday series of concerts at the Steinbeck Theatre and Carmel Woman's Club, has recent news that one of his ballets (he has written several) is to be produced in Munich, Germany. He has also received from Australia a commission from an Australian composer to rearrange a piano composition found too difficult to play. Before coming to America, Duwe conducted many works in Munich. He is an acquisition to this community and a serious musician of decided genius.

Editor,
The Carmel Pine Cone:

Adventurous Carmel

Carmel is a very enchanting town,
It has all kinds of ups and downs.
When you walk about its winding streets,
You can find many different things to look at or eat.
In Carmel they have an art center with pictures galore,
And all kinds of shops with things to explore.
The fine sandy beach for picnics to go
Or the Seventeen Mile Drive you might like to know.
Carmel has its cliffs and one of them I climbed.
For many a year this cliff has been mined
By shell hunters and waves, time after time.
Amidst the rocks in the cove I found,
Shell after shell without any sound.
They were big, little, and slightly round.
The rainbow of colors in the abalone shell,
Gives everyone something to see when I tell.
With this exciting discovery up the cliff I darted,
When I reached the top I could see where I had started.
To me this visit was quite a thrill,
I'd like to come back, and someday I will.

Editor,
The Carmel Pine Cone:

The Legislature on June 5 will ask Californians to make a decision on the future of what little is left of California's grandeur. Voters will say "Yes" or "No" on Proposal 5, the State Park and Recreation Bond Act. The proposal calls for the acquisition of some $75 million in lands of State Park quality as well as providing for developments, small craft harbors, wildlife conservation board projects opening access to vacation and play areas, and some grants to counties desiring to establish regional parks.

Private acquisitions within the past year have erased from the landscape more of magnificent and beautiful California. The grandeur can never be replaced.

Sincerely,
Charles A. DeTurk,
Director.

New Church Group Announces Speaker For Sunday Services

Church in the Round services at the Cypress Club in Carmel Sunday morning at 11:02 o'clock have been planned around a sermon by a guest speaker, the Reverend Darrel R. Repp of Palo Alto.

Reverend Repp, assistant minister of the Unitarian Church of Palo Alto, will talk on Where Is Our Holy Church? He will speak during the absence of the society's regular minister, the Reverend Karel V. Vit.

A graduate of Georgetown University School for Social Service and of Starr King School for the Ministry, Reverend Repp was ordained in 1961.

In addition to the services at the club, which is on Lincoln between Seventh and Eighth, a special interest group has been planned for school-age youngsters during the service hour, prior to the opening of regular Sunday School classes in the fall. Babies are cared for by a sitter during the service and the coffee reception which follows at noon.

COLOR OF TIME

Had time a color, what would it be?
I think, perhaps, like an April day
Or the tincture of a halcyon sea,
Though more electrical than they.

And it would be shot through and through
With iridescency outspun
By the singular and multiple hue
Of a circling and encircling sun.

The rhythmically dancing hours
Might hold the whisper of a tint
From global verdancies and flowers,
And rainfall's sheer and silvery glint.

And humankind should lend some gleams,
Not of inharmony and dearth,
But of its visions, hopes and dreams,
In a color not yet known on earth.

—LORI PETRI

WILD FLOWERS

No hand has scattered your tiny seeds, yet
There you grow
In shady nook or ferny dell,
On sandy shores near the ocean's swell,
In mountain meadows and deserts as well
Your blossoms blow.

—HJORDIS DALESTEN

EXILE

The spring,
A shy princess,
Narcissus-exquisite,
Exiles with her smile the tyrant,
Winter.

—LUCIA TRENT

RETALIATION

Unforgotten yesterdays
May dim Dawn's hope and promise,
Mute song and laughter;
And leave the soul imprisoned,
Enslaved, a drudge to a grudge.

—ANNALEONE D. PATTON

OLD MAGNOLIA'S MORNING

When the black-bibbed finch bows to negotiate,
The pink worm seals the compact,
Cognizant fleetingly of its flexibility.
Not far from here, sun jewels flow through leaf depths,
And the white morning shines on the tall magnolia.
Below its roots a city teems in discipline,
And red ant soldiers leave their patient slaves to march.
At the tree's crest a white owl rides wind rafts;
Screened by polished leaf sails; floats on sticks.
An old man seeks the shade, eyes dim-blue,
And resurrects within his mind a sunny form,
And tries to build a bridge to lost moments.
Magnolia blooms are unwrapped by day,
And, with all this, the day has just begun.

a special meeting on May 18 to study current recreation needs in the city. They will convene at 1:30 o'clock in the afternoon at city hall. The same time and the same location were chosen for all future regular recreation commission meetings. Meetings will be the second Tuesday of each month.

A request made by Mrs. Helen Leslie for removal of a tree on her property on Carmelo between Twelfth and Thirteenth was denied by the Carmel City Council on the regular tree tour meeting Tuesday evening. Councilmen thought it would be possible to install the drive planned by Mrs. Leslie without removing the tree.

On the same tour, the city fathers granted Harold Hagey permission to trim trees at his property on Casanova between Ninth and Tenth, and Pacific Gas and Electric Company permission to set a new pole on the west side of Monte Verde between Fourth and Fifth.

Permission was also given for improvement of the street to allow for parking on the east side of Mission Street from Fourth to Fifth avenues. Permission to plant trees at the Carmel Youth Center at Torres and Fourth was referred to the committee on lands and improvements.

Building Inspector Floyd Adams received job advancement last night and a full time assistant, Glenn Kearns. Increasing need for Mr. Adams in an advisory capacity to the planning commission on zoning laws, also more and more demands by citizens in respect to building and property matters led the council to take the above action last night.

An ordinance to condemn two small privately owned pieces of land lying between presently owned city beach frontage south of Santa Lucia Street was given first reading by the council last night.

The properties, to be acquired for park purposes, will complete city ownership of lands fronting the beach west of Scenic Drive.

A public hearing on the reclassification of C-1 and C-1-S property into the new C-1-L (motel, hotel, apartments) zone of the business district will be held on May 24, 8:00 o'clock in the evening, by the city council.

The parcels of land, at entrances to the business district, were recommended for such zoning by the planning commission. All are presently predominately occupied by C-1-L uses.

A free public concert will be presented in the Carmel High School cafeteria May 17, at 8:00 o'clock, by choral and instrumental groups of the school music department, under the direction of John Farr. The program will be announced later.

Carmel Cub Scout Pack 48 has a quota of 700 tickets to sell for the Scout-O-Rama on Saturday at the Fairgrounds. They also will have a project and display at the event to which all interested persons are invited to attend, especially parents of Cub Scouts. Tickets are 50 cents and may be purchased from any Cub Scout.

Members of Pack 48 are the boys who cleaned up Carmel Beach last Saturday morning, an annual project they have undertaken.

Two newcomers received the approval of the city council last night on their appointments to city commissions. William H. Godwin Jr., resident manager of the Pine Inn, was appointed to the Carmel Planning Commission to succeed Herbert B. Blanks.

Taking a seat on the forestry commission will be Richard Hittinger Jr., quarantine inspector for the County of Monterey Department of Agriculture, and a resident of Carmel for the past six years.

Mr. Godwin, who recently returned to Carmel after two and a half years as resident manager of a Santa Barbara hotel, is the son of Harrison Godwin. He attended Carmel schools and the University of California before entering military service as an Air Force pilot during the Korean War. He and Mrs. Godwin with their two sons live at Carmelo and Fourth.

Mr. Hittinger, who makes his home at Viscaino and Flanders Way with his wife and young son, Philip Stephen, has held his present position as agriculture inspector for the past five years.

The annual membership meeting of the Carmel Music Society will be on May 19, at 8:30 o'clock in the evening at Sunset School auditorium, with Omus Hirshbein, pianist, as guest artist for the concert held in conjunction with the meeting.

Tickets to the concert, which is open to the public free, are available in Carmel at the Graham Music Company, the Browse Around Record Shop and California Music House.

Golfers will gather in Del Monte Forest this weekend for the Cypress Point Invitational Golf Tournament Friday and Saturday. The event will get underway tonight with a cocktail party at the Cypress Club for contestants and their wives.

An added motoring event has been planned for the week end of the Laguna Seca Invitational Sports Car Races June 9-10 at Monterey.

A sports car rally, sponsored by the Pebble Beach Sports Car Club and sanctioned by SCCA and the Sports Car Racing Association of the Monterey Peninsula, will be held on the evening of June 9. The event is open to any car owner, the only requirement being seat belts and a valid driver's license.

Members of the senior class at Carmel High School will visit Monterey Peninsula College campus today from 1:00-3:00 o'clock in the afternoon.

Pamela Jean Gamble of Carmel Valley, a University of the Pacific student, was chosen Miss Monterey County during competition Saturday night at the Pacific Grove Junior High School auditorium. She will next compete June 27 in Santa Cruz for the Miss California title.

Governor Edmund G. Brown has appointed three new Monterey County Fair directors. They are Lester E. Smart of King City, who succeeds James Abeloe of Salinas; Jack J. Cowan of Carmel Valley, who takes the place of G. H. Burnette of Carmel; and Mrs. Robert Tuttle of Salinas, who replaces Ben F. Jacobsen of Soledad.

The terms of Abeloe and Burnette expired. Jacobsen resigned.

Reappointed to the Fair board are James van Loben Sels of Carmel; David H. Wynne and Mrs. R. Earl Barton, both of Salinas.

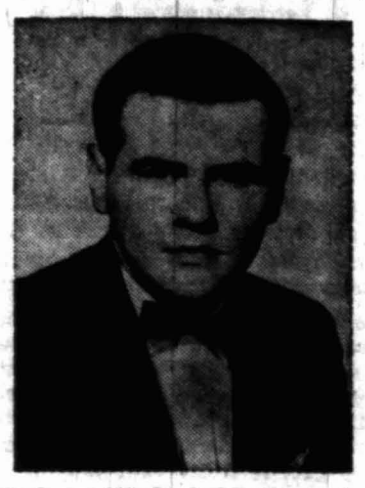
Construction on Carmel Junior High School was halted all this week as the site was picketed by the Laborers' Union during a strike because of a wage dispute with contractors.

The school is only one of many jobs in the state held up for this reason.



Dalegor W. Sucheki, above, is a candidate for Secretary of State of California. The 27-year-old resident of San Francisco is a Korean War veteran who heads his own public relations firm. A Republican, he has served as chief steward of Local 230 of the United Auto Workers, chairman of the Anti-Communist Polish Community Service Centers of California, and has been an active worker in the last two Republican presidential campaigns.

Stanford Student Plans Auditorium For Bach Festival

The need for a larger auditorium on the Peninsula was recognized last fall by Walter Eagle, a student in architecture at Stanford University, and he submitted as his terminal project plans for a 952-seat auditorium on the Forest Theater site. Copies of his plans were sent to The Carmel Pine Cone by Henry Hill, San Francisco architect, who was selected by Eagle to be his advisor.

The Eagle project is primarily, first, "a 952-seat concert auditorium for the presentation of large orchestral, choral and organ works, convertible for Shakespearean type plays or abstract contemporary productions." Second, "a 380-seat recital hall for solo and small group recitals, chamber music, symposiums and lectures." Third, "a small art museum-gallary for permanent and rotating displays."

Main purpose of the three buildings is, Eagle states, "the inclusion of facilities for the Bach Festival . . . in that it is a part of Carmel, not only in the sense that Carmelites founded it, but it is operated as a non-profit organization and supported by the civic government."

He concludes by saying, "The serenity of the community of Carmel, coupled with the power of baroque music, combined with the need to provide better facilities, has resulted in the project."

The buildings are simple in design on different levels of the Forest Theater site, and grouped around a center court landscaped with pine trees.

Eagle describes the reasoning behind his designs as follows: "The people of Carmel . . . feel strongly about the character of their community and strive at every corner to preserve the atmosphere as it exists. As a consequence, I feel it is important to respect this feeling and governed the spirit of the buildings accordingly."

Art On The Peninsula

A one-man show of watercolors by Betty Guy and a group exhibition of oil paintings by 21 artists are being shown until the end of this month at the Artists Guild of America, Inc. galleries, Monte Verde Street and Ocean Avenue, daily from 11:00 o'clock in the morning until 5:00 in the evening.

Born in San Francisco, Betty Guy studied at San Francisco State College, the California School of Fine Arts, the University of California, the Art Students League in New York and Grande Ecole de Chaumiere in Paris.

She has painted in many countries but is especially fond of Norway and Scotland because of the immensity of space she finds there, also the poetic quality of the light.

Betty Guy has exhibited in San Francisco, Paris, El Paso, Tokyo and New York.

Included in her show in Carmel are scenes of San Francisco, Venice, Paris, Stratford-on-Avon, London, Scotland, Wurttenburg, Israel, Athens, Lisbon, the Loire region of France, Monterey and Innsbruck.

Artists whose oils are displayed in the group show are Paul Lauritz, R. Brownell McGrew, Bennett Bradbury, Nell Walker Warner, Patricia Cunningham, Beulah Kosty, Frank Hamilton, William Darling, Frank June, Alfred Wands, Leon Franks, Winifred Koch, Warren Brandon, Edward Ward, Leo Braico, Anders, V. Lynn, Charles Rollo Peters, Leroy, Rupert Leach and Sam Manning.

The Crossroads Art Gallery in Carmel Plaza is offering a representative showing of recognized established contemporary European artists. Examples of work by Campagnola, Rival, de Holesch, Foss, Abrys, Puchala, Vasseur, Guilbert, Pechaubes, Wrobel, Lenoir, Masset, Roth, Grandaty and Beauval may be seen in this exhibition.

An exhibition of black-and-white and color prints, entered in the recent photography competition for all U.S. Navy personnel in this area, is being shown through Saturday in the library lecture hall at Monterey Peninsula College when classes are not in session.

Lovers of travel, art and architecture will be able to take a trip East of Suez in a showing of color slides at the American Federation of Arts gallery, on Lincoln Street opposite the Church of the Wayfarer, at 8:00 o'clock Saturday evening.

Describing trips he has made to little-visited places in the Middle East will be Harold Stump, assistant-professor of architecture at the University of California. Professor Stump is an accomplished photographer, and color slides made by him in the Goreme Valley in Turkey, the Persian Gardens at Ramsar, on the Caspian Sea, of mosques in Kabul, Iran, as well as in Isfahan, Iraq, Petra and the Dea Sea Caves of Jordan, will be shown.

This will be the first of four slide-lectures he will present to the AFA organization. Three other events, to be given at intervals of approximately one month, will be titled, The Classical Heritage, Egypt and Nubia, and Pilgrimage Churches of Europe.

HOSPITAL GIFT CAMPAIGN

A two-week general gifts campaign for the building fund of the new Community Hospital started Tuesday in Carmel when members of the auxiliary, headed by Mrs. Elmer Zanetta, were stationed at the Crocker-Anglo Bank.

Wednesday the auxiliary team will be stationed at the Safeway store near the mouth of Carmel Valley. Contributions may be any amount a person can afford, whether it be $1.00 or more.

The volunteer workers hope to raise some $420,000 needed to open the new 100-room hospital free of debt. Some $2 million has already been raised by private subscriptions.

You'll be fascinated when you read what this woman discovered about herself—through psychiatry's newest drug, LSD-25

"I traveled deep into those buried regions of the mind concealed by fear, prejudice and psychological resistance. I discovered that in addition to being consciously, a loving mother and a respectable citizen, I was, unconsciously a murderess, a pervert, a cannibal, a sadist and a masochist. But in the wake of these dread discoveries I lost my fears... and I achieved complete sexual fulfillment."

FROM A LIBRARIAN'S NOTEBOOK

By Ruth Galvin Thornburg

Louis Bromfield believed that the most worthwhile aspects of a man's life lay in his relationship to the land, and he demonstrated this in his life at Malabar Farm and his writing about the farm. His daughter Ellen Bromfield Geld has just published a memoir of her famous father, the title of which is The Heritage. This is a portrait of the farm as seen through the eyes of a young girl, the animals, the guests, the Bromfield family. Mrs. Geld and her own growing family now live in Brazil on a farm which is the prototype of Malabar. She says her loves are writing, farming and politics. If she is as good a farmer and politician as she is a writer, she should do very well indeed.

Two hundred years of the history of the Rothschild family are woven into a book by Frederic Morton and entitled The Rothschilds. This is the human side of the epic of the Rothschild family, a family portrait.

Titles are not always descriptive of a book's contents and this is true of The No Cooking Cookbook by Lillian Langseth-Christensen, because you do have to do some cooking. But these are recipes for easy-to-fix dishes. A glance at lists of ingredients shows the word cream appearing at alarmingly frequent intervals which may indicate that these recipes would be better for the person holding or gaining weight, rather than the hoping-to-lose type. But for the cook who works, this book should be heaven-sent.

A charming book is Leaves From a Journal by Queen Victoria. The journal in question is one which she kept during April and August in 1855, at which time the court enjoyed a visit by Napoleon III and Empress Eugenie, this visit being returned later by Victoria and Albert. The journal is frank and intimate. The Queen records her impression of her royal guests. She tells what the women wore to the various affairs and how the children behaved. The Queen was a sharp observer but her comments were kindly. Illustrations for the book are photographs.

The first submarine to pass under an iceberg and chart its underwater contours was the nuclear-powered Seadragon. The story of the Seadragon was written by its commander George P. Steele, with what the jacket-blurb calls "vigor, humor, and modesty." The photographs which illustrate the book are interesting, especially the ones which show polar ice from below the surface of the ocean. These nuclear submariners are an adventuresome breed of men.

Herman Wouk's new novel goes into circulation this week. We have a few names waiting for it but not many. It weighs in at 783 pages and even with all that bulk, reviews have not been too enthusiastic, but a new book by Mr. Wouk is an event, and this is his first novel since 1955.

Paul Gallico has a new novel also. It is entitled Scruffy. There is a legend that when the Barbary apes should finally disappear from Gibraltar, the British would also disappear from the island. The time was the period of World War II, and Scruffy was the last of the apes. Secret Service was alerted to the danger. How they went about the business of obtaining a mate for Scruffy forms the basis of the plot of this amusing novel. This is Gallico at his entertaining best.

Citizens Committee Recommends Free Off-Street Parking Be Only For City Employes And Equipment

The Carmel Citizens Committee, Monday, sent a letter to the Carmel Planning Commission, also a copy of the letter to the city council. The communications stated the committee's views on the city's "parking problem."

Enclosed were results from a questionnaire sent to the 400 members of the committee, and of the committee's man-in-the-street poll on parking taken by questioning persons at the post office in Carmel.

Two other enclosures were a letter from Rear Admiral C. W. Fisher (USN Ret.), president of the citizens committee, giving his evaluation of the parking situation; and a letter from Alfred H. Marshall, former member of the New Haven Parking Authority in Connecticut, stating his opinions on city parking.

On the basis of information obtained from the questionnaire, poll and letters, the board of directors of the Carmel Citizens Committee suggested in the letter that the city should provide free off-street parking for its own people and apparatus (fire, police street department, city hall employes).

Secondly, any public off-street parking, if provided by the city, should be on a self-amortizing and self-supporting basis through collection of fees for use.

Lastly that all off-street parking, no matter by whom provided, should be strictly controlled as to location, landscaping and appearance so it will not detract from the beauty and character of Carmel.

In his letter Admiral Fisher remarks, "Notwithstanding the talk about the need for more parking, the public pay lot at the Plaza is seldom filled, and the Leidig's lot on Seventh and Mission is only partially filled most of the time. Apparently the demand is for free parking right at the store. Free parking right at the store would seem to be the store's responsibility.

"It appears possible to release more curb parking for customers. There are 285 one-hour curb spaces and 97 two-hour spaces, 382 in all. The less these are occupied by business employes the more spaces become available for customers.

"I have noted a definite sentiment that our wisest course may be to avoid taking any drastic or expensive action at present, but rather to let 'nature take its course', while experimenting with modifications in traffic fines, shorter curb parking times, etc. By so doing, traffic and parking may eventually reach a balance based on our business district size and street pattern, and we may not have to spend any city funds for expensive parking lots."

In his letter, Mr. Marshall states that the Eno Foundation's study of off-street parking problems concluded that parkers won't use facilities more than 600 feet from their destination.

Of setting up the New Haven Parking Authority he says, "We found that our first and most difficult and long-drawn-out problem was to convince the driving public that parking costs money, that street obstruction is not the inalienable right of anyone whose bank buys him a car, and that in the long run he's going to have to pay for the convenience.

"We found that downtown merchants, as a group, needed education on the simplest level: they and their employees (who are all candidates for all-day parking) were heavy users of curb space—many of them having regular schedules of meter-feeding where there were meters—at the same time they shouted for off-street space for customers who couldn't get near their stores."

"Although Carmel is a very different community, people are very much alike. It's my guess that the same principle could be applied here after an adequate educational program and you would find that 50 percent of the curb-clogging would be accounted for."

The citizens committee sent the above information to the planning commission in an endeavor to aid the commission with its current study of a parking program for Carmel requested by the city council.

Insurance Firm In Carmel Names Assistant Manager

John A. Harrison has been appointed assistant manager of Tom Brown Associates, Carmel insurance firm, it was announced last week by Mr. Brown, general manager of the organization.

Mr. Harrison, whose home is in Hatton Fields, has a substantial background in the insurance business, having served as vice president of the Canadian Western Insurance Company with headquarters in Vancouver, British Columbia, prior to coming to Carmel in 1959. For several years he served as vice president of the agents' association there.

His community interests have ranged from winning the Junior Chamber of Commerce national award as chairman of the youth leadership committee to membership on the board of the Vancouver Theatre Under the Stars, and to heading the production committee and acting as advisor with the Vancouver International Festival, which Mrs. Harrison, his wife, founded and helped direct.

His enthusiastic support of and work with sports groups, such as baseball and football leagues in the Harrisons' former city, have also now been transferred to similar organizations in Carmel. Here he supports Peninsula theatre groups and Little League.

Born in Berkeley, Mr. Harrison has been a frequent visitor all his life to Carmel, home of his grandparents, the late Mr. and Mrs. William Greer, and summer home of his parents, the late Mr. and Mrs. James Hunter.

"I really remember Carmel of the old days," Mr. Harrison says. "My mother once bought eight lots on San Antonio where the tennis courts were for $375 and sold them for $875—big profit then."

The Harrisons have two daughters and a son: Nicola, who is Mrs. Bart Hancock of San Jose; Jeremy, a sophomore at Carmel High School, and Graeme, River School student.

Students Speak On Model UN

Honoring the recent Public Schools Week, a potluck dinner was given last week by Carmel Masonic Lodge Number 680 and the Carmel chapter of the Order of the Eastern Star. Among the guests were five Carmel High School students, part of a group of seven who were delegates to a recent model United Nations assembly on the campus of the University of California at Berkeley.

The speakers, Valerie Whitworth, Kay Taylor, Judy Kratky, Kathy Crawford and Ken Sentner, told of their experience as delegates representing Uruguay, "because this was the first year that Carmel High School participated, and it seemed wise to be a neutral country." At least 1000 delegates were present, the students said, from more than 100 schools.

Sponsored by the High School social sciences department, the delegation, which also included Mike Graham and Terry Butler, was accompanied to Berkeley by teachers Charles Moody, Ray Stumbo and Peter Lyon.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE SERMON

The perfect nature of spiritual creation will be emphasized at Christian Science services Sunday.

Among the Bible passages to be read in the Lesson-Sermon entitled "Adam and Fallen Man" is this one from Genesis (1): "And God said, Let us make man in our image, after our likeness: . . . So God created man in his own image, in the image of God created he him; male and female created he them."

From "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy this citation will be read: "God created all through Mind, and made all perfect and eternal" (p. 205).

The Golden Text is from Job (8): "Behold, God will not cast away a perfect man, neither will he help the evil doers."

Miss Bjorkman Will Wed

River School first graders came home last week excitedly saying, "Miss Bjorkman is engaged!"

Sunee Solbritt Bjorkman and Lieutenant Milton L. Jines, United States Navy, are planning a July 7 wedding.

Sunee, who teaches a first grade class at River School, has lived on the Peninsula for two years. She is the daughter of Mrs. Sadie Bjorkman of San Francisco and Helge Bjorkman of Stockholm, Sweden. She graduated from Lowell High School in San Francisco, and in addition to attending San Francisco City College and San Francisco State College studied at summer schools in Hawaii, Mexico and France.

Lieutenant Jines is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph W. Jines of Ventres, Louisiana. He is a graduate of Southwest Louisiana Institute, and is at present a student at the Naval Postgraduate School.

Fehrings Visit At Chico State

Joining the throng of Pioneers Day visitors, including alumni and parents, at Chico State College last week end were Mr. and Mrs. Ted Fehring. They set out from Carmel with one daughter (Jo Anne), picked up two others, Janet at Stanford and Joy at the University of California at Davis, and went on to Chico to see daughter Jean, a sophomore at the college, and to join in Saturday's culmination of the Pioneers Week festivities including a barbecue picnic with friends of Jean's and of Jean's fiance, Dave Davini, Jr., a senior at Chico.

Wasn't there somebody missing from this family reunion? Yes, it was daughter Julie, a Sunset School student, who decided to stay home because she wouldn't miss the Junior Assembly Saturday night "for anything in the world."

At Chico the Fehrings saw Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Blanks, who also drove up for the big week end to visit their son Bert, a sophomore there.

Pops Program Sunday First Event Of Symphony Week That Will Include Concert Tuesday, Membership Drive

Months of activity and planning will bear fruit next week when the Monterey County Symphony Association begins its first co-ordinated ticket sale, membership and general fund-raising drive under the auspices of Symphony Week (May 13-19).

Although the orchestra is currently enjoying its most successful season to date, operational deficits are on the rise, and Symphony officials are hopeful that during Symphony Week the increased costs of maintaining a community orchestra will be matched by increased community support.

Among the most important of the orchestra's plans for the future is an expanded program of music for the youth of the community, including additional Young People's Concerts, special concerts at the schools themselves with smaller orchestral groups, and the establishment of a Youth Symphony. In order to carry out these plans however, wholehearted community cooperation will be needed.

A special steering committee under the general chairmanship of Fletcher S. Dutton is in charge of Symphony Week activities and a variety of events has been planned.

Leading off Symphony Week will be a special Pops Concert on Sunday afternoon at the Monterey County Fairgrounds, beginning at 2:00 o'clock. At that time the Monterey County Symphony, the Barber Shop Chorus and Herb Miller's Band will donate their services to provide an afternoon of entertainment. All proceeds from this event, which is co-sponsored by the Monterey County Symphony Association and the Monterey County Symphony Guild, will be used to help defray the orchestra's operating expenses.

Monday and Tuesday of Symphony Week will feature the final concerts of the current symphony series. The program will include Howard Hanson's Symphony No. 2, and a concert version of Purcell's opera Dido and Aeneas, featuring the Hartnell - Community Chorus. Soloists for the performances Monday evening, in Salinas, and in Carmel's Sunset School auditorium the following night, are: sopranos, Joy Ellen Reese, Norma Wiley, Elaine Johnson and Sally Welts, and baritone, John Farr.

Another highlight of the Tuesday evening concert will be the announcement of the winner of the Composers Award Competition. Judges for this event are the distinguished composer, Roy Harris and Dr. Erno Daniel, conductor of the Santa Barbara Symphony Orchestra.

Wednesday of Symphony Week will see the departure of conductor John Gosling for Liverpool, England, where he will take part in the biennial International Conducting Competition along with 20 other young conductors from around the world.

On Thursday and Friday an extensive telephone campaign to increase the number of season ticket holders and association members will be waged from a general headquarters in Abinante's Music Store. Plans for the 1962-63 Symphony Series have already been formulated. Soloists for the coming season include internationally-recognized artists David Abel, violinist, and Jean Casadesus, pianist, as well as organist, Myron MacTavish and the Hartnell Community Chorus. Among the major works scheduled are Brahms' Symphony No. 2, Saint-Saens' Symphony No. 3 (The Organ Symphony) and Honneger's oratorio King David.

The final tally of the week's results will be taken Saturday by members of the steering committee.

The committee, in addition to general chairman Fletcher S. Dutton includes: Mrs. Walter Jennings, Mrs. Alan Boyd, Mrs. W. K. Stewart, Mrs. Eleanor Gann, Mrs. Laidlaw Williams, Mrs. Walter J. Williams, Dr. Dayton Benjamin, Colonel George W. Vaughn, Mayor Eben Whittlesey and Mrs. Peter Dyer.

a community accrues by the student exchanges.

The citizens' committee should have been formed by May 1 but AFS headquarters in New York have extended the deadline. Mrs. Sippel already has offers of a home for the AFS foreign student next year, if she can form the committee within the next week or so.

Pacific Grove has an exceedingly active AFS citizens' committee. The 20-30 Club is offering that community the necessary funds to bring a foreign student to Pacific Grove High School next year, too.

We urge any Carmel area resident who believes peace can be ultimately achieved through understanding between nations, and especially the youth of nations, to volunteer to be a member of the citizens' committee and help Mrs. Sippel reinstate the AFS program at the Carmel High School.

Mrs. Sippel reports Carmel High School students are eager to resume the AFS student exchanges. She emphasizes she has a home for a foreign student next year tentatively assured. All she needs is support, immediately, from adults in this community.

We hope she gets it and the 20-30 Club's generous offer can be accepted! —Marjory Lloyd

Kiwanis Club Aids Carmel Girl With Africa Summer Plan

Jennie Hill, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Paul K. Hill of Carmel and a sophomore at Pomona College, Claremont, California, is one of five Pomona students who will spend the summer in Africa as part of the Operation-Crossroads Africa program.

Jennie, a graduate of Carmel High School and an American Field Service exchange student in 1959 to Norway, will go to an area just north of Mombasa in Kenya. She will join a work project near Kikambala to help build a classroom-chapel on land donated to the Kenya Christian Council.

One of some 200 college students from throughout the country participating, Jennie will go to Washington, D.C., on June 19, to attend orientation sessions, then fly to Africa June 24. The program, although it pre-dates the Peace Corps, is under auspices of the U. S. Peace Corps.

The Carmel Kiwanis Club will help sponsor Jennie, with an award of $100 to aid in her travel expenses of some $900, which she must raise herself under the Crossroads program. The Monterey Peninsula Soroptimists are awarding Jennie $200.

An outstanding student when she was attending Carmel High, Jennie was valedictorian of her class. This year at Pomona she was one of 20 sophomore girls selected to be freshman sponsors next year.

MEET THE CANDIDATES MEETINGS

The Monterey Peninsula League of Women Voters will conduct two meetings which will give the public an opportunity to see and hear the many candidates on the local ballot in next month's primary election.

The first of these meetings, both of which will be held at the USO in Monterey, will be Monday evening at 8:00 o'clock. At this time the candidates for state assemblyman and congressman from the 12th district will each give speeches of from 10 to 12 minutes. A question and answer period will follow.

Appearing at Monday's meeting will be Elvin Anderson, Democrat, and Allan Pattee, Republican, candidates for state assemblyman; William K. Stewart, Democrat, Glenn Coolidge, Republican, Richard Mills, Republican, Robert Bowersox, Democrat, and Royal Hallmark, Democrat, congressional candidates.

The second meeting, scheduled for May 21, will introduce the candidates for county offices. Both meetings will be conducted by Mrs. A. S. Gaylord, president - elect of the League of Women Voters, who will be assisted by Mrs. John Brock, president, and a large committee.

Public Invited To Attend Armed Forces Day

give way to Fort Ord's Command Parachute Team which will put on a jumping exhibition, featuring mid-air baton passing during the free-fall phase of the jump.

At the conclusion of the morning's activities, the public is invited to be the guest of the Army in the mess halls of the 8th Battle Group, across from the display area. Featuring fried chicken and topped by cherry pie, the luncheon will be served for 65 cents for adults and 35 cents for children.

Afternoon events will include action displays in the stadium, also special presentations.

As part of the action displays, a crew of machinegunners will fire blank ammunition over the head of a crawling soldier. The soldier will negotiate a miniature infiltration course while simulated artillery fire and booby traps explode around him.

The 3rd Brigade will stage a survival village. Here a committee of specially trained personnel will display such survival techniques as outdoor cooking, determining which plants and animals are edible and other skills that may come in handy even for the civilian population should this country become involved in full scale war.

Another football field exhibit will be a compass course. Visitors will receive some instruction in land navigaton and may attempt to navigate the course themselves with the aid of a compass.

Open house events at the Army Language School in the Academic Building begin at 1:00 o'clock tomorrow afternoon and last until 4:00 o'clock. During this time the public may visit actual instruction sessions in 28 languages. Concurrently, narrated color slides will be shown in the auditorium, there will be a language laboratory demonstration and the snack bar in Building 615 will be open.

THE SOUND OF THE SEA

IS SOOTHING to some. To others it is stimulating. For all there is romance in living where one can hear the surf break on the white sands of the beach at Carmel-by-the-Sea. We offer a spacious, sturdy older home two short blocks from the beach and within easy walking distance of the village. There is a big living room with cathedral ceiling and a fireplace for cheer on gloomy days, an open stairway to two bedrooms from which one can see the blue ocean. An attached garage, green lawn enclosed by a low stone wall and a secluded patio complete this picture of a choice home available only because the owners are leaving for Europe. Reduced to $35,000.

ALSO IN CARMEL and so characteristic of this uniquely charming village that it never could be found elsewhere is another "close-in" home. The larger than average lot has been landscaped to require minimum care. A broad deck on the South side of the house extends a sunny welcome to the big living room with bookshelves at one end and a fireplace at the other. Here are coziness and comfort. The kitchen is unusually bright and cheery, and there is a breakfast nook where flowers bloom the year round. A snug little den, three bedrooms, two baths and another private entrance so that part of the house may be used for guests or supplementary income make this a bargain at $28,000.

IF A NEW HOUSE is what you want, take off your shoes when you enter this spanking new home. Equipped with all the newest "gadgets" yet toned down to harmonize with Carmel's muted atmosphere. Spacious living room with open-beamed ceiling, separate dining room, two big bedrooms each with a colorful bath, a delightful cherry-paneled library and closets galore. The price? A surprise. ($33,500 including the blossoms by the door.)

OR, IF YOU MUST RENT and want a great big house with six fireplaces, we offer an old-world type mansion in the Carmel Highlands completely furnished for $360. Lease it for one year or for five!

Blanks." He stressed that further study was needed before the council could pass the proposed tax measure and indicated that study will possibly reveal that 125 additional parking spaces can be obtained on city streets if presently unused, or little used, areas are utilized.

Mayor Whittlesey pointed out that never yet had a conclusive result been obtained from any parking study. Full unanimity on how much parking is needed and who should pay the bill for it has never been worked out in studies, he continued, but added that as the previous council had requested the planning commission undertake a study of the parking situation, he favored awaiting this body's report, although some action on the ordinance could be taken while the study was going on.

Councilman Francis Whitaker at this point defended his report favoring the ordinance and room tax for purposes given above. "I have seen half a dozen studies made," he said, "also seen the many opportunities this city has lost by not being willing to look ahead and plan for the future.

"All-day parking off-street is needed most," he added, "also greenbelt and parks. The city is growing up fast and losing opportunities rapidly."

He continued by stating that the residential area on the edge of the business district is being "broken down" by all-day parking and that the provisions in his report would meet needs of the city for ten years ahead.

Councilman Frank Putnam heatedly defended the proposed ordinance to finance off-street parking by increasing business license taxes.

"Any city councilman who doesn't see the need is an ostrich with his head in the ground," he declared.

"We need off-street parking. We need it immediately. We should start purchasing it concurrently with the planning commission study," he advocated, and said the matter should not be delayed for possibly many years.

"The business community is strangled by lack of parking, if the council delays six months it will be a serious dereliction of its duties," he concluded.

The matter was put to the vote. Councilmen Blanks and Buffington, elected to the council on April 10, voted in favor of Mayor Whittlesey's report. So did the mayor. Opposing votes were those of Mr. Putnam and Mr. Whitaker.

During public discussion of the ordinance, James Marquardt presented to the council a petition, signed by 35 persons, opposing the ordinance, "proposed by an interested minority," he stated.

Patricia Hall told the council she thought all possibilities to solve parking problems had not been exhausted and that there is valuable property in the business district lying idle, and which might be utilized for parking purposes. She proposed present private parking lots be developed as two-story attractive parking facilities, with a profit to owners of the areas, as being in line with her belief in private enterprise, before business license taxes were increased or other tax measures undertaken to provide parking lots.

Former councilman Gunnar Norberg spoke in defense of the escalated parking fine proposal he made to the council in April. He stated that the police department estimated 40 percent of the city's 382 on-street parking spaces were used regularly by business people. The same persons are seeking the doubling of business license fees and matching city funds to buy lots to provide less than the 150 spaces they now prevent the public from using, he added.

Robert Spencer told the council that for 16 years nothing had been accomplished in regard to parking and said the council should not waste further time, nor delay the ordinance as Mayor Whittlesey's report advised.

"I urge you to adopt the second report (Whitaker's), get something started and proceed in orderly fashion," he ended.

Carmel Youth Center
Box 2399
Carmel, California

Dear Friends:

Monterey Peninsula Volunteer Services has graciously given their Thrift Shop to the Peninsula's youth centers for the month of July. As you know, our Youth Center is constantly in need of funds. Because of this we are always delighted when given an opportunity to earn some money. As we like to consider the operation of our Youth Center as being done mostly by ourselves, we intend to work towards a successful month for M.P.V.S.

We are now on a quest for rummage — any kind of rummage—

Hats and ball bats, pillows and weeping willows,
Warm winter slacks and (giggle!) even out-dated sacks.
Pink and red sweaters, (but please, no Irish setters!)
Pictures and lamps and things for camps,
Chairs and dishes and tables and such,
And maybe even a worn out crutch!

So you see, we will accept everything—well, almost everything. We are sorry, but we cannot accept magazines, newspapers, or mattresses.

We will be happy to pick up any articles you may have, or you may bring them to the Youth Center. Phone MA 3-3285 for pickup.

Sincerely,
The Youth Board
Rick Baldwin, President

Strike May Mean Sunset Will Have To Be Used To Replace Junior High

stitute teachers received from the board a flat $18.00 per day salary schedule which represents a $1.00 per day increase.

Salary increases for classified personnel, like the administrative salaries, were continued to the next meeting of the board.

Although the issue of striking construction workers at the site of the new Carmel Junior High School came into board discussions only incidentally, the fact that construction delays might possibly postpone use of the new school may have influenced board thinking on the Sunset question.

Faced with the same four alternatives outlined in previous meetings (close Sunset, put all sixth grades at Sunset, house two sixth grades and a kindergarten there, or make full use of the school with kindergarten through sixth grade classes), board president Dr. Grant Fletcher said:

"If the strike holds up construction for an undue length of time, we may have no new junior high to move into in the fall, and would have to use Sunset for junior high classes."

Told by Assistant Superintendent Wayne Greenfield that full use of the school would mean employment of an additional teacher, trustee Dr. Richard Snyder said, "There is a demonstrable saving of $5,000 or $6,000 for not opening the school at all. The economy factor has a significant bearing on what we should do."

Dr. Snyder moved twice to table the Sunset decision, without a second, then abstained from voting on a motion by Dr. Robert Newton to open the school on a full-scale basis. Mrs. Roxie Blanks voted no, while trustee Clayton Neill Jr., joined Newton in a yes vote, which resulted in the 2-2 tie-up. Dr. Snyder said, "I don't think a two-week or month delay on this will mean so much." Dr. Fletcher reminded the board that the issue can be reopened at any time.

Twice during board hassles with finance, trustees were challenged by a speaker from the audience, Clifton H. Beckwith of Pebble Beach, whom Dr. Snyder described as "a citizen who sees the cost of education rising very rapidly, which in all truth, it is."

Brandishing a sheaf of papers on which were written long lists of figures, Beckwith urged board members to hold the line on expenditures. He cited comparative figures from a study of the district's budgets which he said he had accumulated "over a period of five years." The essence of Beckwith's remarks seemed to be that costs are going up and up, and since that was just what board members were anxious about too, Mr. Beckwith got no argument on that point.

On the athletic budget, presented by William Wakefield, director of physical education, trustees authorized bids on selected items in the amount of $1,000, in light of the fact that the budget "has to be trimmed here and there soon."

In other business the board:

Created a new administrative position, that of assistant superintendent in charge of instruction, salary to be subject to negotiation.

Accepted resignations from Mary Helen Anderson, Tularcitos eighth grade teacher, and Cynthia Coates, Tularcitos fourth grade teacher.

Ratified contracts for Mrs. Dinne Bolinger, high school home arts; Philip Johnson, junior high math; Philip Nash, junior high business education, and Miss Patricia Vincent, junior high social studies.

Approved tenure for James Agan, Lloyd Baskerville, Thomas Cloud, Lewis DiStefano, Maureen Dyer, Gordon Gartz, Phyllis Gray, Thomas Hamil, Sharon Jones, John McCormack, Mary Osborne, Patricia Sippel and Robert Skiles.

Approved a short pregnancy leave for Mrs. Barbara Stevenson, River School first grade instructor, with pay equal to the difference between a regular salary and that of a substitute.

Denied Mrs. Jean Agan's request for a year's leave without pay, taking the action "without prejudice" and in line with the board's established policy.
